Schools Will Open As Scheduled, Says Health, Education Officials

Dr. Felix J. Underwood, executive officer of the Mississippi State board of health, and Mr. J. M. Tubbs, state superintendent of education, have issued the following statement in regard to polio in Mississippi in its relation to school openings:

INQUIRIES RECEIVED

Now that the opening of schools is at hand, several inquiries have been received in regard to the advisability of opening schools as scheduled, in view of the polio situation in the state and especially in several counties of the state.

The general policy of the state board of health and the state department of education is to advise the opening of schools on schedule in the state as a whole, except in communities in which the new cases of polio within a week prior to opening have reached such proportions that a serious outbreak may be threatening. One or two cases in a school area just before the scheduled opening would not justify postponing the opening of schools, but more than 4 cases within a week prior to the opening might justify postponement in the average school community.

WATCH SITUATION

In a large consolidated school district, should two or three cases occur within a week prior to opening and within a very small area of the school district, postponement of the opening of such school should be considered. County health officers and school officials should watch the situation in each community and plan together the most feasible handling of the situation for the good of all.

If polio develops in a school district while the school is in operation closing that school will probably have little to do with the amount of the disease in that area. It is suggested that schools should not be closed when one or two cases occur in a district, and unless a real outbreak occurs in a particular area the school involved should continue in operation.

URGE ATTENDANCE

Full attendance of all children is urged with assurance from health and school officials that the polio incidence in each school community will be closely watched and necessary steps will be taken to protect the children in so far as knowledge of the disease will permit.

—Mrs. Joseph Van Cloostere, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Teihard, recuperating from an operation, was called to Long Beach last week because of the serious illness of Mr. Van Cloostere's mother, Mrs. J. Van Cloostere.

—Peggy Ann Bernond, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Bernond, was baptized at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church, Sunday afternoon, August 28, at 4 o'clock. Rev. Father Bryan officiating. Roberta Bernond and Sanford Green were the sponsors.

—Mrs. O. T. Arnold and Mr. Larry Mauffray spent the week end in Mobile, attending the wedding of Miss Arnold's niece, Miss Pola Arnold, and Mr. Marion Wilkins, both of Mobile. The marriage was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, with a Nuptial Mass at noon. A reception was held, immediately following the Mass at the Woman's Club in that city.

Legion To Help Vets Filing For Insurance Refund

The American Legion will assist all local veterans in applying for their National Service Life Insurance Dividends, according to Fred E. Fayard, Sr., Commander of the Clermont R. Bontemps Post No. 139 of The American Legion of Hancock County.

"Our post will have the necessary applications which veterans will have to make to the VA to get their NSLI dividends," Commander Fayard said. "Every veteran who held his NSLI policy for 90 days or more will have a refund coming to him. The VA expects to pay out approximately $2,800,000,000 in these refunds. Payments per veteran are expected to average about $175 according to VA. Applications should be filed as quickly as possible because it will take weeks and months for a veteran to get his refund check."

Actually, Commander Fayard explained, The American Legion will try to get the biggest manhunt in history in trying to locate veterans who are eligible for the NSLI refunds. "The VA estimates that some 16,000,000 veterans are entitled to NSLI refunds," Commander Fayard said. "Actually today the VA has the home address of only six millions of eligible veterans. The American Legion will help it to locate 10,000,000 others."

Applications may be secured at the Post Office or from Comrade Laurent Dickson at Dickson's Drug Store; Comrade Wilson Webb at Gulf Coast Trade School, Commander Fred E. Fayard at Engman's Store.

Eighty-two years of age, she was a native of New Orleans and had lived in Bay St. Louis since August 31, 1893.

The funeral was held Wednesday, August 31, at 4 p. m. from the Fahy Funeral Home with religious services at Christ Episcopal church, Rev. A. DeMiller rector of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer at Biloxi, officiating.

Chapman, New Orleans; Wallace Chapman, Biloxi; Mrs. Lillian Chapman Marshall, of Gulfport; Mrs. Helen Chapman Penrose, Waveland. Snider, Mrs Gautier Reelected To National Democratic Committee

J. B. Snider of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Hermes Gautier of Pascagoula are again the National Committeeman and Committeewoman of the Democratic party following the action of the Mississippi State Democratic Executive Committee meeting in Jackson Monday.

Expelled by the National Committee in Washington last week because they both declared they had supported the nominees of the Democratic party of Mississippi rather than the Truman-Barkley ticket they were promptly reelected by the State Committee under a rule of the National Committee which declared that all vacancies shall be filled by the legally constituted authority of the state they represent.

Speaking before the State Committee Mr. Snider said "I have been disillusioned. I was none too enthusiastic over what transpired last year and believed if we approached the National Committee honestly and sincerely in an effort to heal the breach and to prevent its recurrence our efforts would be accepted in that spirit."

Mr. Snider continued, "the statement made by President Truman was one of hate when he said, 'I have waited a lifetime to make the South crawl.' His attitude reminded me of something I read once which declared that 'when a little man is accident elected to a position to big for him, he will either grow to it or swell to it.' The tragedy of it is when he bursts he will probably cause untold misery throughout America."

"It is heartening to find in high places in Washington men, not only in sympathy with our position but are really frightened of what is transpiring in this nation."

Continuing he said, "The South is not without friends throughout the nation and their number will increase as the corruption now existing in Washington becomes better known. When Americans from both the North and South, East and West, realize they must give up the pap with which they have been bribed in recent years and experience a rebirth of patriotism and love of nation, then and then only will they restore this country to its liberty loving people after having rested it from the pirates who have taken it over in recent years."

GUILD MEETS TUESDAY

The Christ's Church Guild will meet Tuesday, September 6 at 10 a. m. at the residence of Mrs. George Lehlleiter, 183 Sobriety ave., Waveland, according to an announcement by Mrs. Harold Weston.

Co-hostesses for the gathering will be Mesdames H. A. Oxenham and Gayle Aiken, Jr.

—Mrs. M. A. Gilmore entertained at her home on Thursday of last week at a bridge-luncheon honoring Mrs. Mary Davis of St. Louis who is visiting Mrs. S. A. Power. Mrs. Davis was presented with a guest prize. There were four tables of bridge playing, and a prize was given to the winner at each table.

Memorial Park Fair . . .

Recent repairs have made the old Webb School at Third and Citizen streets an attractive location where children can study. Included in the repairs were a new roof and paint job, improved plumbing throughout and general "fixing up." Also, a new lunch room was built in the basement where the entire student body of some 50 first to fourth-graders can be served. School began September 1. Miss Pauline Russ will again be principal and Mrs. Claiborne Ladner has returned as teacher.

WHO'S MISLEADING

Highway Commissioner John D. Smith has taken issue with us on our editorial of August 19, entitled "Whose Baby." He charges in his letter which is published in this issue of the Echo, that we had not given the true facts and that we were misleading our people. He asks if we are really interested in helping build the Bay St. Louis Bridge. Yes sir, John we are really interested in every aid possible and giving the facts as we see them, although we are going to exert every effort towards that end, enlisting every aid possible and giving the facts as we see them, although these facts may not always coincide with your thoughts.

Lets see if our editorial was misleading. You assumed office in January, 1948, at which time many of the projects for which the money appropriated by the legislature of 1946, as you say, had been allocated, but had not all been contracted. You suggest that we should go back and read the statement of your predecessor in the campaign of 1947, at which time he stated that he would allocate all funds and designate all roads on which this money would be spent. You say he actually carried this out.

The law makes it mandatory that all highway department funds be divided equally between the three districts, but, John, the law does not say a commissioner can not change the allocation of funds, does it?

When you assumed office you knew that the Bay St. Louis bridge was in bad shape. You knew it had suffered much damage in the hurricane of 1947, and you knew that prior to this time there was much discussion of the need of a new bridge. Yet with all this before you, you made no effort to re-allocate a single penny of the funds in your district to rebuild the weakest link in the most important highway in the state. Apparently the allocation of these funds by your predecessor must have pleased you. You made no effort to change them. You gave no thought to the big problem facing the people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. You are now beginning to realize that this has become your big problem.

Roads have been constructed in your district in the last three years which do not bear the importance of Highway 90 and the only money spent by the Highway Department on this project was to construct six miles of roadway in Hancock County. John, if you had had the interest of the people of the Mississippi Gulf Coast at heart as you now claim, it would not be necessary for them to ask the legislature to solve the problem.

Did we mislead our people when we stated there was a balance of $3,000,000 in the maintenance fund of the highway department? In your summary of available funds you show a balance of $566,358.33—yet you do not deny our charge of a $3,000,000 balance. In fact, you confirm our statement, and we quote you, "A great portion of this $3,000,000 maintenance balance has already been obligated." We say again the distribution of the funds for the Southern district are in your hands. What has prevented you from allocating your share of these funds for the Bay St. Louis bridge? Your actions would have spoken louder than your words.

How much will it cost to build this bridge? Would we be misleading if we say that it will cost $6,000,000 to build a four lane bridge, and $3,500,000 to build a two-lane one? We have thirty-seven miles of two-lane highway west of Bay St. Louis to Chief Menteur, with two-lane bridges in Louisiana. Certainly the traveling public could endure the short distance of two miles over a narrower drive even if we were fortunate enough at some later day to have a four-lane drive. The State in this event would only have to put up $1,750,000 and too, it should be possible to design and construct a two-lane bridge, so that at a later day, the other two lanes could be added. This does not seem impossible, and the traveling public would at least be driving over a sound structure.

All in all, it appears to us, the buck is being passed to cover up the failure of the State Highway Department to make proper provisions for Highway 90, the most neglected primary highway in the state of Mississippi. Can you name another primary highway in the State that has not been completely rebuilt by the highway department, or can you show one in the deplorable condition that Highway 90 is in?

We are at least happy that you lent some recognition to the coast, and state that Mississippians are so proud of it. The shore line of the state of Mississippi belongs primarily to the people of this great State. The three coast counties have had to bear the burden of building seawalls, and their highways and bridges, and yet you speak of how little gasoline tax the Highway Department gets from Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties, and how much is expected of you.

Yes, John, you have twenty-seven counties in your district that pay taxes and are entitled to share the benefits, but the record will bear us out and certainly you can not say that we are attempting to mislead our people when we say that Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties have been the orphan children of the Highway Department.

Yes sir, we need to give the people of the coast the whole truth and nothing but the truth, particularly as to why they have not received the same benefits that the other counties in your district have.

LETTERS

LISTEN WITH YOUR HEART, MR. EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR:

Are you really interested in helping build the Bay St. Louis bridge? If you are, lets all work towards that end. In order to do that we must labor for the common good of the people and all times give them the true facts concerning their problems. We can not afford to mislead them.

The people of Hancock County and Simpson County have been very nice to you and me, "Red." They have honored us to public office on many occasions. Now we must show our appreciation by constructive and helpful services. As editor of your newspaper, you are in a position to contribute much to the welfare of the people. As your highway commissioner, I sincerely desire to serve their best interest. Acting in this capacity, I am vitally concerned and have a greater interest than any other citizen because it is the responsibility of my office to provide adequate transportation facilities to the people of my State. We need the bridge and are sincerely anxious to build it. We must find a way. In trying to find that way, "Red," the people are entitled to have a true picture of their problems. Your editorial styled "Whose Baby" has not given the people the true facts.

Before writing this article you should have read the following Indian prayer: "O Great Spirit, Maker of Men, forbid that I judge any man until I have walked for two moons in his moccasins." It was required of an Indian judge that he go out into the forest by himself to beg the Great Spirit for guidance, and the above words were his prayer. In his way he was asking for enlightenment. He was asking for a mind cleansed of littleness that might becloud judgment; a mind from which all passion and prejudice had been washed away. He wanted to put himself in the other man's shoes, to understand what made a man do what he did, to listen with his heart before he judged him guilty or innocent.

In these times of hair-trigger tensions, when the very air we breathe is septic with fear and suspicion, we might well follow our Indian judge's example before we judge the other fellow too harshly. If we did, we would not be so quick to condemn what we perfectly understand—or do not understand at all. We must remember that hearsay is punitive and capricious. We must never forget that the light of every soul burns upward.

In your editorial the first question asked, "Has the Bay St. Louis Bridge become an orphaned project?" to which the answer is "No." The highway department at the insistence of your commissioner, John D. Smith, in March requested the Highway Planning Committee to present the Legislature the problem of Highway 90 as a "special problem" deserving of "special consideration." It is problem No. 1 in the Southern district because it will require the huge sum of $20,000,000 to build a modern Highway 90. This is more money than the entire district got out of the 1946 program. There are 27 other counties in our district that pay taxes and are entitled to share the benefits.

The 1946 legislature did make available to the Southern district the sum of $18,000,000. However, when I came into office in January of 1948 I found less than one-half million dollars of this money obligated. It had either been spent, contracted or programmed. If you will refer to the newspapers of this district printed during the political campaign of 1947, you will see that the former commissioner stated that he would allocate all funds and designate all roads on which this money would be spent. This promise was well carried out.

It is also true that there remains $5,000,000 of bonds to be sold. However, most of this amount has already been put under contract. We wait as long as we can to sell bonds in order to save interest payments. No, "Red," it is not poppycock when John D. Smith tells you he does not have the money to build the Bay St. Louis Bridge. He is telling you the "plain truth." I wish it were different. I would like so much to build this $6,000,000 bridge. The total of revenue received by the State Highway Department during the fiscal year of 1948 from all sources was only $7,416,138.59.

At the time you were writing your editorial and telling the people that I had sufficient funds to build the bridge, below is quoted the exact amount of funds on hand—

FEDERAL AID FUNDS
AVAILABLE AS OF AUG.
1ST:

For Primary Roads	$69,846.42
For Secondary Roads	70,783.56
For Urban Roads	57,501.65
Total	$198,131.65
BOND FUNDS—Total	208,930.50
Amount	$409,296.08
Less Emergency Reserve	250,000.00
Total Maintenance left	159,296.08

TOTAL OF ALL FUNDS AVAILABLE $566,358.23
It is the policy of the commission to set up a reserve account of $250,000 per district for emergencies such as the burning of a bridge, floods, cyclones, etc.

Now, if there is a person in the world that can tell me how to take the sum of $566,358.23 and build a $6,000,000 bridge with it, I am now ready to work with him.

People of Mississippi Gulf Coast, we have a big problem facing us. We need a concrete and steel bridge at Bay St. Louis, one at Pascagoula and Escatawpa. We need to build a modern Highway 90 throughout Jackson County, and we need to complete it in Harrison County. As you have already been told, it will require the sum of $20,000,000 to do it.

It is a legislative problem, and it is up to us to sell our cause to the people of Mississippi. All the Representatives and Senators from the coast counties must join the citizens in a united front to get favorable consideration for our urgent problem. I am happy to see that Reese O. Bickerstaff, our Representative from Harrison County, who is chairman of the Highway Committee in the House, and is a member of the Highway Planning Committee, recognizes our problem and will lead the fight for the solution. Lets all join together in this fight. In order that justice will be done for Highway 90 which traverses the Mississippi Gulf Coast, of which we as Mississippians are so proud.

In your editorial you said, "Tell us, John, is it not true that you are at the present time controlling the policies of the State Highway Commission and if you were interested in rebuilding the Hancock-Harrison County Bridge over the Bay of St. Louis you could have $3,000,000 set aside out of the maintenance fund balance and from the bonds which are unsold, which together with federal aid would be an ample amount to build this structure?" Certainly I am not controlling the policies of the Highway Department. We three commissioners are working together as a unit for the welfare of our State. No one man can or does control it. Most of our acts are controlled by law. A great portion of this $3,000,000 maintenance balance has already been obligated and my part of this fund (and all other funds available) have been quoted above.

You know as a matter of law and right that I could not take the funds belonging to other highway commissioners' districts. No more than a county supervisor of Beat No. 1 could take the funds belonging to Beat No. 5. I restate, Mr. Editor: "We need to give the people the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Yes, "Red," "It is true that the coast counties are paying a heavy gasoline tax." You are paying 10½¢ on every gallon in Hancock County. But who is getting this tax? Let's analyze it. The federal government gets 1½¢ on each gallon. Hancock County gets 7½¢ on each gallon—of which amount ½¢ goes to the county roads and 3¼¢ to the sea wall. The Highway Department only gets 1¾¢ on each gallon and out of this amount, we have to support the Highway Department, the Highway Safety Patrol and the Motor Vehicle Comptroller's office. So you see, we actually get very little. Yet, we are expected to do great things with this small amount.

"Red," I have known you throughout the years. I have always thought you were a swell guy. Lets stop all of this foolishness and get down to business and work together to help solve this big problem we have on Highway 90 that deserves our best in thinking, planning, and work.

I call upon all the people to join us in this crusade.

Red Birds' Farm System Is Very Important In Overall Picture, Says Director Mathes

St. Louis, Mo.—Joe Mathes, director of the St. Louis Cardinal farm systems, places a great deal of responsibility for the success of failure of the Cardinals on their summer try-out program, one phase of which will be demonstrated when the Red Birds conduct their two-day camp at the Kessler Field baseball diamond starting at 11 a. m. September 2. Mathes recently was asked just how important a part the try-outs play in the whole organizational picture. His response was very definite:

"It is impossible for our scouts personally to go out and see every ball player in the country, so we use try-out camps to aid them. Many boys we have not seen in previous contacts always show up at the camps, and our scouts are very glad to get a chance to watch them go through their paces. Then too, there are always some boys we are already interested in, and the scouts can get a close look at them when they work out in a camp.

"The Cardinals maintain 21 minor league clubs, and need lots of young talent each year to keep those club rosters full of good players. There is no doubt in my mind of important part try-out camps play in helping us keep the clubs up to their limit in players.

"Many of the Cardinal 'varsity' were found in try-outs, and we are always in hopes of finding more players like Marion or Slaughter or Schoenstien. Of course, no boy who tries out in a camp is going to have the polish and finesse of those three men, but our farm system is so highly organized that we can keep a close watch on each individual, and develop him as fast as he is able, so that in the shortest possible time, a boy picked up in a camp can have that all-important chance in the majors."

New 30,000 H. P. Unit Is Put In Service By Mississippi Power Co.

Southeast Mississippi is now being served by an additional 30,000 horsepower of electrical capacity in the form of a new generating unit in Mississippi Power Company's huge Plant Eaton, Mr. L. P. Sweatt, president of the company announced today. The new unit, which has just been placed in regular service brings the total capacity of Plant Eaton to 90,000 horsepower.

CENTERS NETWORK

This great plant, which has been continually under construction since early in 1944, is located on the Leaf River near Hattiesburg, in the center of the company's interconnected high voltage transmission network which serves communities in 23 Southeast Mississippi counties. The first 30,000 horsepower unit, upon which construction had been delayed since the war, went into service in March 1945 and the second unit began production in July 1947. With the third unit now in operation this great plant can produce more than 1,500,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity daily.

The new boiler unit, like the other units, will use natural gas as a fuel. The boilers are constructed from a complex array of steel tubes which carry water as it is being converted to steam. Giant flames stepped up by powerful fans shoot around the tubes to bring the steam to high temperatures.

110,000 VOLTS

This steam then passes to the turbine. On the turbine shaft there are 19 sets of blades or vanes against which the steam pushes with terrific force, revolving the shaft 3,600 times per minute. Attached to the turbine shaft is a shaft of the generator by which electricity is generated at 12,000 volts and travels outside to the substation yard where heavy transformers step it up to 110,000 volts for transmission.

The tremendous increase in installed generating capacity, 90,000 horsepower having been installed since the beginning of 1945, is a continuing part of Mississippi Power Company's program to assure an adequate supply of electricity for Southeast Mississippi's constantly developing use of power on farms and in homes, factories and businesses.

FOR HIGHER STANDARDS

"The company will begin construction of another new high pressure steam electric generating plant near Meridian in a few weeks," said Mr. Sweatt. "This plant having an initial capacity of 58,000 horsepower."

"Throughout the years Mississippi Power Company has continually participated in the growing industrial development of the area it serves. As we continue to advertise Mississippi's great industrial future we are building in advance to care for the power requirements of such industries, and the parallel growth in use of electricity for all purposes which follows the higher standards of living which flow from a strong industrial economy," he said.

CONGRESSIONAL ADJOURNMENT

Three years ago the Congress passed another reorganization act, the purpose of which was to streamline Congress and save the taxpayers money. Unfortunately, like most reorganization acts, a number of which have been passed during our service here, it has accomplished very little. Among other things this act provided that Congress should adjourn by July 31 "except when the country was at war..." Several days ago the Speaker of the House ruled that we were still technically at war, and such adjournment was not required by law.

The House has long since passed all the necessary appropriation bills for the operation of governmental departments, and has in addition passed the usual number of deficiency appropriation bills, and has otherwise pretty well completed its program. And it could have adjourned prior to August 1; but the Senate is far behind schedule, and has possibly the greatest backlog of legislation therefore passed by the House in its history. That body apparently is content to talk the rest of the year. It is certainly unfair and unreasonable to contend that the members of the Senate are not as anxious to adjourn and leave Washington as are the members of the House, always complain about the Washington summer heat.

Add to that the fact that both bodies are functioning in cramped and inconvenient quarters, due to the current repairs that are being made to the Capitol. Therefore, there must be some reason for this. One explanation is that the administration is determined to keep the Congress in session throughout the year, ever pressing and demanding that the Congress pass its program, referred to by the administration's opponents as a program to build up a welfare state. It's even contended that the administration is indifferent as to whether the program is enacted or not. If it is enacted they can point "with pride" in next year's congressional elections to its accomplishments. But, if the program fails they can then point "with alarm" to the fact that the Congress was responsible for the defeat of this legislation, and therefore the people must elect a more liberal Congress the 1950 election, a Congress that will favor President Truman's Program. That program still is for the enactment of laws for socialized medicine, more European aid, reciprocal trade, broad coverage and upping the social security tax, a 75c minimum wage with additional coverage, the out-right repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and the Civil Rights Program.

FIVE-PER CENTERS AND DEEP-FREEZERS

Not since the Harding administration, when corruption in high governmental ranks was disclosed, has anything stirred Washington and the country like the Senate investigation of the "Five-Per Center" charges. The American tax payer is very jealous of the manner in which the ever-increasing tax dollars extracted from him are spent. He dislikes waste in government. But there is something he dislikes more. In fact, something that causes him righteous indignation, and that is the use of his tax dollars for corrupt purposes.

Therefore, when it was disclosed in the hearings that a former Kansas City bootblack, who claimed to have White House preference and contacts, was obtaining a rake-off of 5% on huge government contracts, and that preferred contractors allegedly were rewarding and courting favor with high ranking government officials by presents of deep-freezer units and other pres-

Forestry Books Now Available For Classrooms

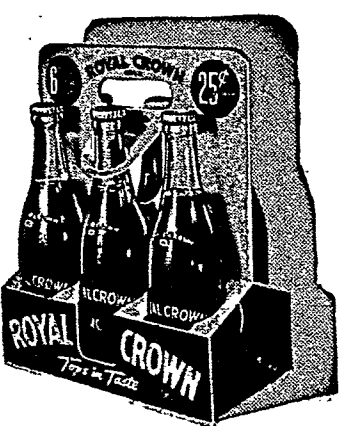

Washington, D. C.—A new 16-page booklet listing forestry materials available without charge for classroom use is now being distributed to schools in 48 states.

The bibliography, "Forests, Their Use and Conservation," eventually will be sent to more than 100,000 school and college officials by American Forest Products Industries, a non-profit educational organization.

Material listed in the annual publication deals with the importance of trees, the nation's only natural renewable resource. Booklets, wall displays, and a motion picture, "Trees of Tomorrow," described in the bibliography, present facts intended to create a better understanding of forestry problems.

This year's release contains a special section, announcing, by states, where "Trees of Tomorrow" can be ordered. Also featured is a review on "The Story of Forests," a 24-page picture booklet designed for school children in the fourth through eighth grades.

Copies of the bibliography may be obtained free of charge from the

A & G Schedules "Silver Lining" For Sept. 4th

"Look for the Silver Lining," Warner Bros.' Technicolor musical picture, the career of Marilyn Miller, one of Broadway's greatest stars, is the next attraction booked for the A. & G. Theatre, Sunday, September 4th.

Starring June Haver in the Miller role, the film also includes Broadway's leading dancing star, Ray Bolger, who portrays Jack Donohue, Marilyn's dancing partner in "Sunny" and another of the great musical comedy stars of the period 20 to 25 years ago when show business on Broadway boasted of names like Fred Astaire, Eddie Cantor, W. C. Fields, Ruby Keeler and Al Jolson. Gordon MacRae, leading screen and radio singing star, plays Frank Carter, Miss Miller's first husband.

The story tells of Marilyn's arrival at an early age to join her parents and sisters who are the "Four Columbians" on the vaudeville circuit. She becomes the fifth and it is not long before she is starring in a Broadway musical comedy. From that point on, singing and dancing to the music of the great composers, Irving Berlin, Sigmund Romberg, George Gershwin and Vincent Youmans, Marilyn Miller's starring hits sound like a reprise of the greatest, "Sally," "Sunny," "Smiles," "As Thousands Cheer" and others—productions by the great impresarios.

The Warner Brothers picture retains all of the flavor, music and atmosphere of those great shows, and with lovely June Haver closely resembling the famous star in the star role, Ray Bolger supplying the comedy and dances in his own interpretation of the great Jack Donohue, local moviegoers appear in for some tops in motion picture entertainment.

REA Approaches Area Coverage Goal; Sets Annual Meeting Date

The Rural Electrification Association is rapidly approaching its goal of area coverage in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River counties. H. H. Shattuck, manager of the Coast Electric Power Association, said this week.

The term "area coverage" means, Mr. Shattuck explained, that every rural family who wants electric power in its home or on its farm can be supplied. The R. E. A. will build several miles of line to serve one rural family, the manager added, even if that line loses some money. Other lines, he said, on which more customers are located make-up for the discrepancy and keep the coop on a stable and even profitable basis.

REVIEW PLANS

Last week Coast Electric Power Association representatives met with R. E. A. engineers and representatives of the Victory Electric Construction Co. to review construction plans for 94 miles of new line that will serve some 175 rural members in the tri-county area. Attending the meeting were Charles Mathews, R. E. A. consulting engineer; H. M. Alford, R. E. A. federal engineer; J. W. Watts, Coast Electric Power superintendent of operations; H. H. Shattuck; Thomas Trawick, contractor, and "Red" Murphy, construction superintendent.

The Victory Electric Construction Co. of Mobile was awarded the contract recently following approval of its low bid of $79,734.30 submitted to the coop's board of directors July 13.

"Our company anticipates completion of the planned 94 miles of line well within the 90 day period as set by the coop," Mr. Trawick stated. Actual construction began August 18.

The contractors have set up construction headquarters in Gulfport and have obtained warehouse facilities in that city. Wire and materials have already been moved from the coop's storage space to the company's warehouse.

Also last week the board of directors of the Coast Electric Power Association met to approve plans for the annual meeting which has been officially scheduled for October 8.

At this meeting the directors met with Thomas J. Biggs, of the Biggs, Weir, and Chandler architect firm of Jackson to review plans and specifications for the proposed R. E. A. headquarters building to be erected at Main and St. Francis streets.

Miss Mary Willis, regional home economist, was on hand to discuss with the board personal needs and to plan an electrification advisory program which will be organized when the new headquarters facilities are made available.

Plans include a demonstration laundry and kitchen; and the coop plans to employ a full-time home economist to work with its members in the area.

BUYING DINNERWARE

Those in the market for dinnerware can choose about three different types, china, earthenware and pottery.

Each type has definite wearing qualities. But there is a wide range of quality in each type, and an overlapping of quality among the various types.

One should choose the ware which is most suitable for her particular purpose.

All dinnerware is alike in that it is made from a mixture of clay, flint and feldspar; is fired to some degree of hardness and is covered with a glaze.

The word "China" is a term which the English-speaking people applied to vitrified, translucent ware first imported into Europe from China, the country of its origin.

The French called this same ware "porcelain," and in time the two terms became interchangeable.

China is made of a special pure white clay known as china-clay or kaolin. A bed of kaolin was discovered in Vermont in 1810, and craftsmen were imported from Europe to get the china industry started.

The United States has developed able workmen, and American-made China ware has become recognized for its beauty and durability.

China is fired at such a high temperature it is completely vitrified, or non-porous and non-absorbent. The feature distinguishing china from earthenware is its translucency.

To see whether a piece is china, hold it up to the light and put an object directly behind it. If the shadow is seen through the piece, it is china. A china plate, struck on the edge with a pencil, will produce a clear, bell-like tone, regardless of weight.

Bone china is made by the addition of burned animal bone to the clay flint and feldspar mixture. This is the most durable of all china, and is also the most expensive.

All earthenware is opaque, which means that if a piece is held up to the light it will not show a shadow as in the case of china ware.

There are two grades of earthenware, fine and coarse. The fine grade is chip-resistant and will stand hard wear. Fine earthenware may be known as semi-vitrified ware, or semi-porcelain.

Coarse earthenware is not fired to as hard a state as fine earthenware.

Pottery is usually made from coarsely sieved clays and is not fired to a hard stage. Most of this comes from Italy, France and Mexico. It is usually handmade.

American-made pottery, on the other hand, is actually semi-vitrified ware. It has all the qualities of fine earthenware, and generally comes in bright colors, unusual designs and in various degrees of thickness.

Dinnerware may be bought in three ways, from open stock, in sets or in single place settings.

Dishes in an open stock pattern may be purchased one at a time or in any combination over a period of years. Ask the dealer how long he thinks on open stock pattern will be available, as it might be discontinued before one has time to complete a set.

Sets are services for four, six, eight or twelve.

One of the latest methods of buying is to begin with a "starter set," sometimes called "essential set" or "foundation set." Such sets usually consist of four dinner plates, four fruits, four bread and butter plates, four cups and saucers.

Single place settings are packages of five or six pieces, including dinner plate, bread and butter plate, cup and saucer, and either a salad plate or soup bowl, or both.

Eyewitness account of what happened at the meeting of Mayor and Board of Aldermen at Waveland's Town Hall on the night of Tuesday, August 2, 1949.

Alderman R. G. Hubbard left the Council table to point out a few names to a few people in the hall concerning a petition which was requesting an election on a bond issue and this petition was filed and signed by the legal 20% of the voters of the town.

By doing this, Alderman Hubbard disrupted the meeting by leaving the Mayor and the remaining Aldermen who held their seats. Alderman Hubbard attempted to point out and not read out a few certain names on this petition, trying to convince a few people in the hall that these names were the names of his political enemies. All this time the Mayor was aware that Alderman Hubbard was disrupting the meeting but did nothing to stop it.

A citizen within the audience asked Alderman Hubbard to kindly read the heading of the petition as his name was on this petition and the heading would explain that this petition simply asks that an election be called to decide the bond issue.

Whereas the Mayor, after allowing Alderman Hubbard to disrupt the meeting all this while, turned to his special police and said "Throw this man out." To this order the "Mayor's" special policeman charged this citizen with a black-jack in hand to carry out the Mayor's orders to throw this citizen out.

Before the Mayor's special policeman could hit this citizen, one of the Town Marshal's deputies blocked the "Mayor's" special policeman from hitting this citizen with his black-jack. The rest of the citizens arose in anger and asked the "Mayor's" special policeman not to beat this citizen in front of us. At this time, the Town Marshal appeared in the meeting room and called for order and order was maintained and the meeting proceeded without any further disturbance.

This is a true and correct statement signed by the following eye witnesses that were there when this happened:

FALL AND WINTER PASTURES

September is the time to put the fall and winter pasture program into action.

Nitrated oats are the backbone of the winter pasture. If the nitrate is left off, there will not be good oat grazing on most land.

Areas to plant to oats are fallowed land following clover, cultivated land following lespedeza for hay or corn cut for silage or shocked, and sod land in the pasture where minerals are needed.

Oats can be made the starting crop for most pastures. Reasons for starting the pasture with oats are to have plenty of grazing quickly, and to help pay the cost of putting out minerals, land preparation and seed.

Several secrets to getting oats up and having grazing all winter are as follows:

First, plant enough land per cow. Two acres are needed.

Use a rustproof oat.

Use at least two sacks of ammonium nitrate or four sacks nitrate of soda with three to four bushels of oat seed per acre.

Disk the minerals into the soil at time of preparation. Put out the nitrate either before sowing oats or to be disked in, or drill the nitrate at the time the oats are drilled.

Time is lost by waiting to top dress oats after they come up. With plenty of nitrogen to start with they come up growing.

Fifth secret for success is to graze oats when they are six inches high, but only one hour daily.

Graze cultivated land early in the fall and winter, saving sod land until wet weather. Never overgraze any oat area.

Finally, use the electric fence to divide areas.

Remember, when pasture land is made rich, two or three grazing crops can be had from the same land each year, if plans are made early.

Study the combination of plants which grow well together and plan to use as many as the land will carry.

For example, oats will grow in with crimson or white Dutch clover Italian ryegrass will grow in any of the clovers.

A good practice is to sow 25 lbs. of ryegrass on heavy sods of white clover to help control blots and give early spring grazing.

Buy good seed which is free of weed seed. Do not buy if the sacks of seed do not have tags showing germination, purity and weed seed.

For oats, seeding rate is three to four bushels, and the seeding date is September.

Some pasture plants having September or October seeding dates, together with the rates are Italian ryegrass, 25 pounds; Dallis grass, 15 pounds; Bahia grass, 15 pounds; Fescue grass, 10 pounds; crimson clover, 20 pounds; red clover 10 to 15 pounds; and wild winter peas, also called Singletary or Calley peas, 40 pounds.

For White Dutch or La. Giant clover, the rate is 8 pounds and the date October 1. The same date applies to Ladino clover, rate for which is two to three pounds.

Do not let worms eat early planted oats. When brown spots begin to appear in oat fields, examine them for worms. If worms are present, dust at once with 10 pounds per acre of five percent DDT, or with 10 pounds of 20 percent toxaphene.
